ABRUZZO COLLECTION

WHAT IS THE ABRUZZO COLLECTION?

The Abruzzo Collection celebrates the natural beauty and enduring strength of European oak, offering a hardwood floor that feels both classic and contemporary. Designed with character-rich grain patterns and an inviting palette of tones, this collection adds a warm, organic foundation to any space while maintaining a refined sense of style. Each plank is engineered for stability and performance, ensuring the charming aesthetic of real wood adapts beautifully to modern living.

Built with a thoughtful balance of form and function, the Abruzzo series features a wire-brushed surface texture and a protective finish that highlights oak's natural grain while enhancing durability for everyday life. The engineered construction helps guard against moisture and dimensional change, making it a reliable choice for a variety of room environments. Whether you're updating a living room, kitchen, or study, this collection delivers both visual appeal and long-lasting resilience underfoot.

What truly sets Abruzzo apart is its ability to mix accessible value with signature Villagio quality. The range encompasses several distinctive tones — from deeper, toasted hues to lighter, classic oak shades — allowing designers and homeowners to tailor the look to their unique aesthetic. With its blend of character, craftsmanship, and everyday performance, the Abruzzo Collection is as versatile as it is beautiful.

BOLD AND BUDGET CONSCIOUS.

VENETTO

WHAT IS THE VENETTO COLLECTION?

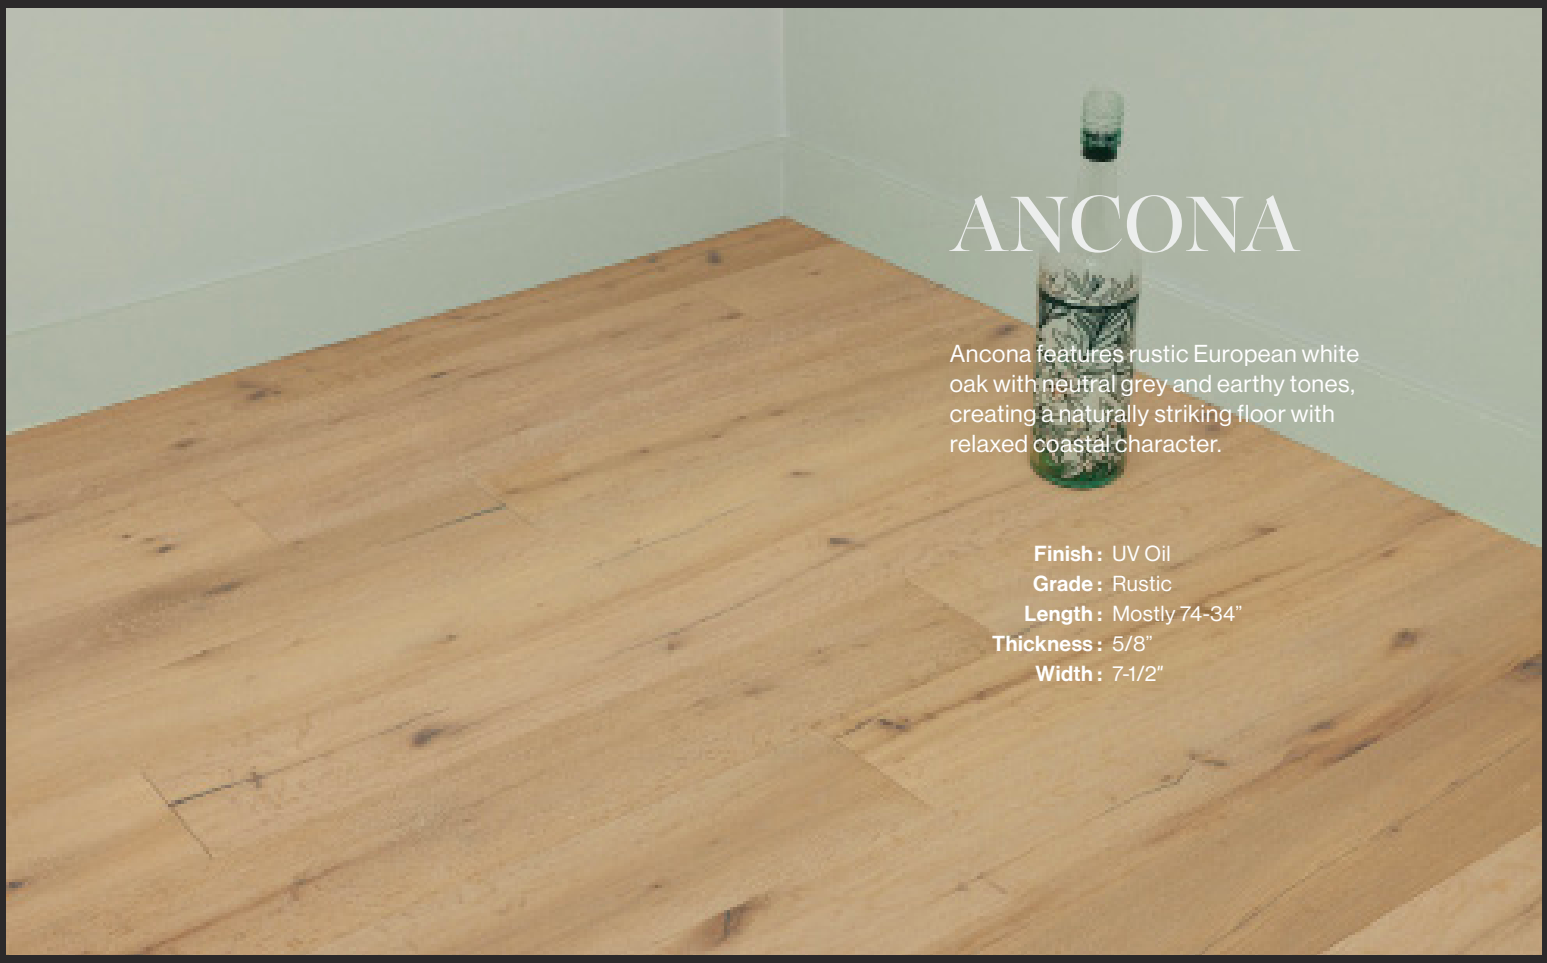

Villagio's Venetto Collection feels like a gentle bridge between old-world soul and modern everyday life. Each plank carries character — visible grain, soft color shifts, and the natural warmth of European oak — but without ever feeling fussy or overwrought. The surfaces are wire-brushed and finished with care, so the texture feels lived in, like wood that's been in a cherished home for decades, yet the engineered core keeps it remarkably stable and practical for contemporary living. Whether you're drawn to quiet neutrals or deeper character tones, Venetto brings a grounded, tactile richness underfoot that adds depth and calm to any space.

What really sets Venetto apart is its sense of ease. The boards are wider and longer than many standard floors, giving rooms a more spacious, continuous feel, and the grain patterns unfold in a way that makes everyday wear look intentional rather than accidental. You get the warmth of classic oak — the kind that invites bare feet and morning light — without sacrificing performance. It's a collection that doesn't shout; it simply earns its presence through authentic materiality and thoughtful design.

In essence, Venetto is about restraint and relevance. It's materials you want to touch, tones you can build around, and a style that works with both traditional and modern interiors. If you're after a floor that feels considered, enduring, and quietly expressive — a grounding backdrop for life's moments — Venetto hits that note with elegant simplicity.

VICTORIA

WHAT IS THE VICTORIA COLLECTION?

The Victoria Collection is defined by composure and clarity. Each plank feels deliberate, with carefully chosen tones and a refined surface that highlights the natural structure of the wood rather than overpowering it. The look is polished but not precious, a floor designed to anchor a space with quiet authority and timeless appeal.

As engineered hardwood, Victoria combines real-wood authenticity with modern stability, making it well suited for today's homes. Subtle texture and balanced color variation give the floor depth and visual interest, while wider planks help create a sense of continuity and calm throughout the room. It's a collection that rewards close inspection but never demands attention.

Victoria is for interiors that value proportion, confidence, and longevity. It works as effortlessly in classic settings as it does in contemporary ones, offering a refined foundation that supports the architecture and furnishings around it. Elegant, assured, and enduring, Victoria feels less like a trend and more like a well-judged conclusion.

“

WHERE BALANCE BECOMES BEAUTY.

The room settles, finding its balance,
light rests where it belongs.
Nothing competes, nothing yields—everything holds its ground.

Stair & Trim

Villagio's stair and trim accessories are thoughtfully designed to bring hardwood installations to a refined and cohesive finish. Crafted from solid European White Oak, each component is carefully custom stain-matched to coordinate with flooring in Villagio's collections. Every stained piece is matched with meticulous attention to achieve the closest possible harmony with the specified floor, ensuring a seamless look across treads, transitions, and trim.

The collection includes bullnose and square edge stair treads, stair nose moldings, vertical risers, T-moldings, and reducers, offering installers and designers a dependable, single-source solution for a fully integrated installation.

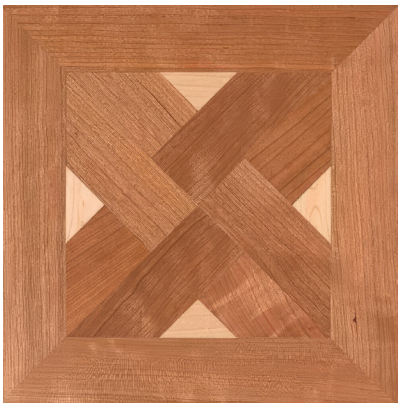

Bespoke Milling

Villagio offers a bespoke milling service that transforms any straight-plank floor within the collection into refined, custom patterns such as chevron and herringbone. This service gives contractors and designers the flexibility to specify more intricate layouts without sourcing a separate product; it's simply the same Villagio floor, precisely re-milled to order.

Each cut is produced according to customer-specified quantities and dimensions, ensuring the final installation aligns seamlessly with the project's design intent. For projects requiring on-site finishing, unfinished wood is also available as a material option. Because every Villagio floor is made to order, lead times and pricing are determined by the specific pattern, dimensions, and quantities required.
